

Our relationship with Adams Exteriors began when they opened their account in 1999, originally with Community Credit Union before it became Viewpoint Bank and eventually Legacy Texas Bank. From the outset, Adams Exteriors secured a substantial line of credit, which has grown with their business as they have remained in good standing throughout our relationship.

Adams Exteriors has managed their financial affairs with diligence and responsibility. They have a proven track record of timely repayments and adherence to all terms and conditions of their credit agreements. This reliable management of their credit line is a testament to their solid financial practices and stability.

In conclusion, I wholeheartedly recommend Adams Exteriors to any potential business partners. Their financial stability, exemplary credit management, and esteemed reputation make them a highly trustworthy and reliable partner.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Alden
